

Join Economic Sociology Section of ASA

Written by Derek Harmon
Saturday, 26 November 2016 12:49 -

The Economic Sociology Section of the American Sociological Association would like to invite OMT members to consider joining ASA and the Economic Sociology Section, which was formed “to promote the sociological study of the production, distribution, exchange, and consumption of scarce goods and services.” There is substantial overlap in the research interests of members of the Section with many OMT members, for example, among those who study the new economy; economic inequality; money, credit, and markets; culture and the economy; neoliberalism; globalization; and many related topics. The 2017 ASA conference will be held in Montreal, Canada, August 12-15, just after the AOM meetings. The submission deadline for papers will be in early January. Please check out the information on the Economic Sociology Section at the ASA website at:

<http://www.asanet.org/communities/sections/sites/economic-sociology>. To join the Section, one must be an ASA member for the current year. Membership is now being solicited for calendar year 2017.

Nancy DiTomaso, Chair, Economic Sociology Section, ASA

ditomaso@business.rutgers.edu