The OMT Division is pleased to announce the 2017 OMT Junior Faculty Consortium. If you have started a faculty position in the last few years, this workshop is for you!

The workshop provides an intimate forum for interacting with senior colleagues and peers to enable you to prosper in your academic career. The workshop focuses on:

1. developing your research for publication with the help of seasoned scholars in your area
2. exploring strategies for impact and growth as a scholar and teacher
3. navigating the early years for a successful faculty career in diverse institutional settings

You will have a chance to interact with an exciting team of faculty mentors and diverse peers who provide developmental feedback on your research, benefit from interesting and relevant panels, participate in roundtable discussions and informal conversations and build potentially lifelong networks.
This year’s faculty mentors offer diverse scholarly and geographic perspectives. Many have been editors for leading journals and won research and teaching awards.

- Christina Ahmadjian, Hitotsubashi University Center
- Costas Andriopoulos, Cass Business School
- Marya Besharoulov, Cornell University
- Amanda Cowen, University of Virginia
- Martha Feldman, University of California, Irvine
- Isabel Fernandez-Mateo. London Business School
- Royston Greenwood, University of Alberta
- Pursey Heugens, Rotterdam School of Management
- Justin Jansen, Rotterdam School of Management
- Renate Meyer, WU Vienna
- Vilmos Misangyi, Penn State
- Anat Rafaeli, Israel Institute of Technology -Technion
- Trish Reay, University of Alberta
- Peter Roberts, Emory University
- Bilian Sullivan, Hong Kong University of Science and Technology
- Bala Vissa, Insead
- Lori Yue, University of Southern California
- Charlene Zietsma, York University

The workshop will be held on the Friday prior to the Academy of Management meetings in Atlanta. On Thursday, August 3rd, we start with an informal dinner/mixer at 6:30pm. On Friday, August 4th, the program runs from 8:00 am to 4:15 pm. Research and professional development roundtables and panels run until 2:30 pm. From 2:45-4:15 pm, the forum joins the OMT Teaching Roundtables to give you the opportunity to talk with exemplary scholars-teachers in small groups about courses and techniques for high impact teaching.

Application Process

To facilitate close personal engagement, space for this workshop is limited and participation is by application only. We expect about 30 participants. If you hold a faculty position as an Assistant Professor or a comparable rank and your research focuses on OMT related topics, we encourage you to apply. We also invite deans, department chairs, former workshop alumni and other faculty to encourage their junior colleagues to apply.

To apply, please email Wendy Smith (smithw@udel.edu) and include the following information:

1) Your name, email address, telephone number, and institutional affiliation

2) Your curriculum vitae

3) An abstract or description of a working paper you wish to receive feedback on (5 pages maximum)

We encourage you to apply early to guarantee consideration. The deadline for applying is April 30, 2017. Please note that there is a $125 registration fee for the workshop.

If you have questions, please don’t hesitate to contact the organizers Wendy Smith (smithw@udel.edu) and Tal Simons (t.simons@tilburguniversity.edu).
We look forward to meeting you in August!

Wendy Smith and Tal Simons

OMT Representatives-at-Large